Jubilee Celebrations!

Dance the Decades

The children have been learning dances and listening to music from the decades of the Queen's reign. Today they have performed them to each other in a whole school showcase.

Choir for the Queen

Today all children sang the national anthem as part of the BBC's Choir for the Queen. Our video has been submitted for inclusion in the BBC's video for the Queen.

Poems

In preparation for the Platinum Jubilee, Year 6 enjoyed a poetry workshop led by Ann Peach where they reflected on the Queen's faith and service. The poems were copied and made into postcards and the Ethos Council enthusiastically delivered these to the residents of Brereton last Tuesday. There were many smiles of gratitude from our community as we shared these mementos. All poems have now been sent to the Palace in the hope that Her Majesty will also enjoy reading them.

Portraits

The children have worked hard on their portraits of the Queen and we are delighted to share some of their work with you at the front of school

Drone Photograph

Thank you to Mr Millward who came to school this morning to take a commemorative photograph for our jubilee celebrations.

Letters to the Queen

Miss Witham took Y2 to the post-box to post their letters to the Queen. We are sure she will love receiving them.

Community Events

Please do take a look at the children's fabulous work if you are attending any of the community events next week. They have enjoyed completing them to share with you.

Love God, love learning, love one another.

Final Holiday Book Review Challenge

May half term will be the last Patron of Reading holiday challenge for this year. This time, we'd love children to upload either a video or a written review of a book from their class's Reading for Pleasure box.

These boxes were given to each class as part of World Book Day and if children haven't yet delved in, it's a great chance for them to borrow a book over half term and share a review.

Children who have completed all six holiday activities this year will be entered into a prize draw to win an Amazon voucher.

We're busy planning our reading activities for next year and look forward to sharing more information soon.

Love God, love learning, love one another.
